Welcome to ScieCom Swedish Resource Centre for Scientific Communication

ScieCom was created as a response to the current crisis in the field of scientific communication. Our aim is to provide information about what is happening, to stimulate discussion and debate, and to describe initiatives. We collate, evaluate and describe articles, web resources and other relevant material. You can find all of this under the main headings in the menu on the left.

A network of librarians and researchers has been created together with other universities and colleges. Please feel free to give us tips on interesting information, conference news, web discussions, etc.

Innehåll:

- On the consumer market economics of scientific knowledge
- Improving access to published research - the INASP initiatives
- Accommodating Open Access Publishing: funding issues from a university (library) perspective
- Lund Virtual Medical Journal – en elektronisk tidskrift med många syften
- Att publicera hos BioMed Central
- Nyheter och Notiser

Senaste Nytt - Vi har fått förhandsmeddelande om att BioMed Central, efter diskussioner med sina medlemmar, har beslutat att behålla sin nuvarande modell för institutionellt medlemskap även under 2005, d.v.s en fast avgift baserad på antalet forskare och studenter. Ett officiellt meddelande om detta är att vänta.

The Association of Swedish Higher Education and the Berlin Declaration

The Association of Swedish Higher Education has made the following recommendations to its members in order to implement the Berlin Declaration:

- 2. Introduce a policy that strongly recommends (Berlin3 “require”) that their researchers deposit a copy of each published article in an open digital archive
- 3. Encourage researchers to publish their research articles in Open Access scholarly journals if a suitable such journal is available and give the necessary support to make this possible

Berlin 3, Southampton 1st March 2005 Agreed Recommendation
